Early Adoption of Racial and Identity Profiling Act (RIPA) Requirements

The California Racial and Identity Profiling Act (RIPA) was enacted in 2016 with the goal of strengthening law enforcement-community relations in California through collaboration, transparency, and accountability. The Act requires law enforcement agencies to collect police stop data and report that data to the Department of Justice (DOJ) on an annual basis.

Per DOJ requirements, the Tiburon Police Department is not required to submit this data to the DOJ until April 2023. However, we are pleased to announce the Tiburon PD is taking a proactive approach and started RIPA data collection on December 1, 2020. Additionally, through collaboration with the Marin County Sheriff's Office, we have created a Tiburon stop data dashboard. The dashboard is updated in real time, and allows viewers to filter Tiburon Police stop data by perceived race, reasons for the stop, result of the stop, and the city the stop took place in. In providing this data, Tiburon Police joins the Marin County Sheriff's Office as the only two agencies in Marin County currently collecting and publishing this data to its community.

The dashboard is always available on the Tiburon Police Transparency page.
