Please join us at one of our free Climate Change Workshops as detailed below. And stay tuned for more details on the Town's Earth Day Celebration on 4/27!

I wish you all the luck in the world today and always.

I hope that you have a fantastic week, and please reach out to me if I can be of service.

Microchips are a lost pet's ticket home

Nothing has done more to reunite lost pets with their worried guardians than something the size of a grain of rice – a microchip! Microchips are tiny devices safely implanted under your pet's skin between the shoulder blades, which can be read by a scanner. That scanner brings up a unique series of numbers and letters that can then be matched to various microchip registries. Most veterinary hospitals have microchip scanners in addition to Marin Humane's Animal Services Officers and, of course, our shelter in Novato.

Marin Humane offers microchipping for dogs for just $25, and thanks to a generous cat lover, they're free for cats!

Just be sure to update your contact information if you move or change phone numbers.

Even if your pet is microchipped, a license tag and/or collar with your information is immediately visible and doesn't require a scanning device to determine contact information.

Hundreds of dogs and cats end up at Marin Humane every year after becoming lost. And while we're glad they're safe with us, we always want to get them back to their families as soon as possible!

To make an appointment to get your pet microchipped at Marin Humane, call 415-883-4621.
