A WORD FROM THE TOWN MANAGER

The Town Council recently enacted three ordinances aimed at protecting the Town's character, the environment and public health. A quick summary:

- 1. Plastic Bags The first of these is a ban on single-use plastic bags. Everyone is aware of the tremendous litter problem created by plastic bags; they defy decomposition and travel long distances on air and water currents, harming wildlife and generally despoiling our environment. The Council has taken action to prohibit our local markets and pharmacy from using these bags at the check-out counter (plastic produce bags are still permissible). These merchants may provide paper bags with or without a fee, but are encouraged to urge customers to bring their own reusable bags. Many municipalities are adopting this restriction which, over time, should reduce our waste stream and move us closer to the Marin County goal of "Zero Waste" by 2025.
- 2. E-Cigarettes Another piece of legislation added e-cigarettes to those products regulated under the Town's smoking restriction ordinance. E-cigarettes are the relatively new nicotine-delivery devices that do not produce smoke but rather a vapor with as yet unclear health effects. They are difficult to distinguish from cigarettes at a glance as they mimic the look, including the lighted tip, of a cigarette. Many consider these a ploy (where there's smoke ...) to entice new and particularly young smokers with flavors such as cherry, vanilla and concoctions like "pina colada" (I had to assert I was over 18 to get that information from one of the many websites offering these products). When the ordinance becomes effective on October 17, 2014, "vaping", the term for using an e-cig, will be prohibited in the same locations as smoking. The sole exception will be in rental homes where smoking is currently prohibited. In that instance, vaping will not be prohibited until October 17, 2015. This one-year grace period should ease the transition for anyone currently using e-cigarettes as part of a smoking cessation program.

- 3. Marijuana Dispensaries Last, but certainly not least, the Council has now banned all marijuana dispensaries from Town. This prohibition extends not just to the sale of medical marijuana, which is currently permitted under state law, but, proactively, includes the sale of marijuana for any purpose should recreational or other uses become legal in California in years to come. This action is to safeguard the small town character of Tiburon from the problems so often attendant with marijuana dispensaries. This does not mean medical marijuana cannot be consumed in Tiburon (although consumption must comply with the Town's smoking restrictions, if that is the mode of ingestion). It simply means a resident will have to obtain this product from a dispensary elsewhere in Marin or the greater Bay Area.

Medians - Almost Complete

Quite a few readers responded to the September 19 Special Bulletin about median-related traffic; thank you for that. Some of you had reassuring things to say, but most gave me a piece of their mind a little less reassuringly... It was valuable feedback, and I appreciate everyone who took the time to share his or her thoughts.

One aspect of the median planting I failed to mention was water use. Several of you questioned the wisdom of creating a new planted area during a drought. This is a legitimate concern, of course. The plants chosen for the median are both drought tolerant and low maintenance. Drip irrigation, the most water-efficient kind, has been installed, but that is primarily to get the plants well established. We are also using sophisticated modern irrigation sensors, now required by MMWD, which minimize water use. I wish we could use non-potable, reclaimed water from the wastewater treatment plant at Blackie's Pasture, but it is too distant and, more to the point, the plant lacks sufficient water to sell us. I'm happy to report we do use that source for irrigating our largest expanse of lawn, that most thirsty of plant materials, at McKegney Green. We do care about these things!

While we all need to be responsible water consumers, I do question the premise that the reality of periodic droughts should dictate that we never again turn concrete into greenery. Even if we were not experiencing dry times now, they could be around the corner. Any corner. I think we need to be judicious and water-wise, for sure. We are trying to be both of those things with this project. As green spaces go, these narrow yet highly prominent bands of green will benefit the maximum number of people we can "touch" with our efforts, for who does not drive by these medians from time to time if not almost daily? That is a lot of bang for our water buck.

We expect the medians to be completed by the end of next week. Some work that is particularly impactful to the intersections (laying the cobble that will go at the tapered ends of each median) will be conducted this Saturday, so please anticipate delays associated with that effort. Then, we'll be done!

Sincerely,

Peggy Curran

New Art Walk Event Brings Artwork Downtown

Tiburon is becoming an art destination! We are pleased to tell you about the following events:

Tiburon Art Walk
October 16 - November 16
Downtown Tiburon

An exciting new event is coming to our downtown businesses, from Main Street to Ark Row (and beyond). Over 30 critically-acclaimed artists will display their work in over 28 locations, and each of their paintings has been thoughtfully paired with a Tiburon shop or business (also Town Hall and the Library).

Tiburon Art Walk will run in conjunction with Art by the Bay (see more on this below), from October 16 through November 16.

At the opening night "launch party" on October 16, come meet the Tiburon Art Walk artists and find out where you can view their work. This special evening will give you the opportunity to mingle with the artists as the "progressive" party takes over downtown Tiburon, with most venues hosting a reception for their featured artist.

For a complete list of participating artists and locations, visit the Art Walk page on the Chamber of Commerce's website.

Media contacts for the Tiburon Art Walk are Chamber of Commerce Director Melanie Haddad, and Lyndasue Johnson of Bradley Real Estate.

Featuring five internationally known artists, Art by the Bay will run from October 16 to November 16. The installation is called "Ornamenting Landscape" and its mission is to enhance the local beauty and topography of Tiburon. The Drever Family Foundation is once again underwriting the event.
